

Dinner - Cavallino's Ristorante Pizzeria

Description

As the days shorten and the nights cool why not join us and other members for a very rustic Italian dinner.

Cavallino is a restaurant that every suburb should have – “a place you can go for a pizza, or a bowl of pasta, or even just some antipasto and a glass of wine. It’s not crazy expensive, and you’ll get more value for your money than you would in any Leichardt red sauce joint simply for the fact they employ good chefs and have created a thoughtful, elegant menu”.

“This is good cooking with lots of flavour and no pretensions whatsoever; food to have fun with, brought by high-spirited, hard-working floor staff. The wine list is more ambitious, a fusion of Italian, Australian and Italo-Australian, with some terrific house wines made by the Pizzini family of Victoria’s King Valley,
